

Help with ADHD mental health research

Researchers from the University of Melbourne and international collaborators are conducting a global survey to better understand the experiences of people living with ADHD. We are doing this study to help improve ADHD advocacy and to highlight areas of improvement for health professionals and organisations so they can better support individuals living with ADHD.

Who can take part?

You can take part in this survey if:

- You are aged 18 years or older
- You have an official diagnosis of ADHD or believe you are likely to have ADHD

What will I be asked to do?

We will ask you to:

- Complete a 10 to 15-minute online survey
- Answer questions about your background, ADHD diagnosis, and experiences of living with ADHD

Sign up:

For more information, please contact:

Developmental Mental Health Study Team

Email: mhs-research@unimelb.edu.au

Principal Investigator: Professor David Coghill | Ethics ID number: 33529

Share this study
with your friends and network!